

Join us at Canine Therapy Corps' Therapy Dog Prep Class!

Canine Therapy Corps is thrilled to announce that it will be hosting 4-session therapy dog prep classes prior to each certification session. This prep class is designed to familiarize candidate teams with Canine Therapy Corps and offer tips and management techniques for making the certification session a success.

Trying to figure out whether this class is right for you and your dog? Well, it's likely a good fit if:

- 👉 You have already fulfilled the obedience prerequisite;
- 👉 You think your dog is well-suited for therapy work and prepared to take Canine Therapy Corps' certification test; and
- 👉 There are a couple of test exercises you and your dog need to proof.

This course is specifically designed as a final step in therapy dog preparation. Therefore, class participants are required to sign up for a certification session prior to attending this class.

Classes are held at the Canine Therapy Corps headquarters located at 3918 W. Fullerton Avenue in Chicago and run from 6:30 - 7:30 p.m. on Monday evenings beginning three weeks prior to each upcoming practice session and ending the Monday between the practice and test session. Enrollment is capped at 6 dogs to ensure candidate teams receive significant individualized attention. Spaces are available first-come, first-served, so if you are interested, don't hesitate!

Cost for the class is $200 and includes your $50 certification test registration fee.

If your dog does not pass the certification test, you may attend 2 sessions in each subsequent prep class.

- 👉 Complete all test registration documentation (certification of animal health, registration form, and volunteer application), selecting prep class enrollment options where applicable.

Canine Therapy Corps' average pass rate for first-time testers is approximately 15%. While Canine Therapy Corps cannot and will not guarantee therapy dog certification based on participation in this prep class, the objective of this course is to increase the pass rate of our difficult test through additional opportunities for guidance and preparation.
